Recognizing and Reporting Elder Abuse

What is Elder Abuse?

In California, elders are defined as persons 65 years and older. Under California law, elder abuse can be both criminal and civil.

Criminal elder abuse occurs when a person knows that their is an elder victim then willfully causes or permits that elder to suffer, or inflicts unjustifiable physical pain or mental suffering on the elder. It also covers situations where a person willfully causes or permits an elder to be placed in a situation in which their health is endangered. (Penal Code Section 368)

Civil law defines elder abuse as physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction, or other treatment resulting in harm, pain or mental suffering to an elder. It also means the deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering. (Welfare & Institutions Code Section 15610.)

- Abandonment: The desertion of an elder by someone who is a caregiver.
- Abduction: The removal, without the consent of the conservator, of a conservatee to another state.
- Financial Abuse: The wrongful taking or use of an elder’s funds, property, or other assets.
- Isolation: The intentional prevention of an elder from receiving mail, telephone calls or visitors.
- Mental Suffering: The infliction of fear, agitation, or confusion through threats, harassment or other forms of intimidating behavior.
- Neglect: A caregiver’s failure to assist in an elder’s personal hygiene, failure to provide food, clothing or shelter, or protect an elder from health and safety hazards.
- Physical Abuse: The infliction of physical pain or injury, sexual assault or molestation, or the use of physical or chemical restraints for punishment.

Who Reports?

Any concerned person may make a report.

Who Are the Mandated Reporters?

The law requires certain persons to make reports. Administrators, supervisors, and any licensed staff of a public or private facility that provides care or services for elder; any elder or dependent adult care custodian, health practitioner, clergy member, or employee of a county adult protective services agency or a local law enforcement agency; any person who has assumed full or intermittent responsibility for the care or custody of an elder, whether or not he or she receives compensation. Officers and employees of financial institutions are mandated reporters of financial abuse.

What Is to Be Reported?

Mandated reporters MUST report actual or suspected physical abuse, abandonment, isolation, financial abuse, or neglect which is observed, evident, or described.

Mandated Report Forms: Form SOC 341 must be completed and signed by the mandated reporter.

When Mandated Reporters Make Their Reports?

Immediately or as soon as possible by telephone, followed by a written report or Internet report through the confidential Internet reporting tool within two (2) working days. If the suspected or alleged abuse is physical abuse, and the abuse has occurred in a long-term care facility a report has to be made to both the ombudsmen and law enforcement. When serious bodily injury occurs the mandated reporter has to contact law enforcement within two hours and also make a report to the ombudsmen within twenty-four hours. Reports of less than serious bodily injury go to law enforcement and ombudsmen within twenty-four hours. The only exception to the duel reporting is when a resident has caused abuse and there was no serious bodily injury. In these instances the reporter shall make the report either to law enforcement or the ombudsmen.
Failure to Report
A mandated reporter’s failure to report or their impeding of a report of physical abuse, abandonment, abduction, isolation, financial abuse, or neglect of an elder is a misdemeanor, punishable by six months in the county jail and a fine of one thousand dollars ($1,000).

Any mandated reporter who willfully fails to report physical abuse, abandonment, abduction, isolation, financial abuse, or neglect of an elder where that abuse results in death or great bodily injury, shall be punished by not more than one year in a county jail and a fine of five thousand dollars ($5,000). Failure of an officer or employee of a financial institution to report financial abuse is limited to a $1000 fine and $5000 if the failure to report is intentional.
